

ADMISSIONS POLICY AND PROCEDURES

POLICY:

Section 1002.32 (4), Florida Statute - Student Admissions

Each developmental research school may establish a primary research objective related to fundamental issues and problems that occur in the public elementary and secondary schools of the state. A student population reflective of the student population of the public school environment in which the issues and problems are most prevalent shall be promoted and encouraged through the establishment and implementation of an admission process, that is designed to result in a representative sample of public school enrollment based on sex, race, socio-economic status, and academic ability notwithstanding the provisions of Section 1000.05, Florida Statute.

An Admission Policy is established for the Florida Atlantic University Schools (FAUS) including the Alexander D. Henderson University School (ADHUS), FAU High School (FAUHS), and Palm Pointe Educational Research School @ Tradition (PPERS) as a method for parent(s) or guardian(s) to volunteer the attendance of their child(ren) and to establish a selection process that shall ensure a student population representative of the demographics of the state and to comply with the statute cited above.

General Process

FAUS shall maintain a student population with characteristics that reflect the public enrollment profile of the state. ADHUS, FAUHS, and PPERS have five categories of characteristics that shall be utilized to identify a representative population. The following are: gender, race, ethnic origin, socio-economic classification, and academic ability. Within each category percentages shall be set annually using figures provided by The Florida Department of Education data for the prior year. The parent/guardian can find this data at <http://www.fldoe.org>. The school reserves the right to modify the admissions policy in response to changes in requirements by the statute, University, or auditors to meet the statutory requirements and implement a specific research study. FAUS has been constructed to function as a specific research study of dual enrollment that requires a selected group of academically talented students. Due to the research study, FAUHS demands a process that differs from that of ADHUS and PPERS in that FAUHS uses a targeted selection process; whereas, ADHUS and PPERS uses a lottery system. Following are the policies that are used for the admissions process for ADHUS, FAUHS, and PPERS.

During the five month period from September 1 through December 31 of each year a web-based admissions application for ADHUS, FAUHS, or PPERS shall be made available via the FAUS website. Parent(s)/guardian(s) must complete an application for each household that wish to volunteer the attendance of their child(ren). Three web links are accessible depending on the grade level and location of the applicant.

ADHUS - Grades K-8 www.adhus.fau.edu

FAUHS - Grades 9-12 www.fauhigh.fau.edu

PPERS - Grades K-8 www.tradition.fau.edu

Parent(s)/guardian(s) must complete all sections of the application each year for their child to be considered in the student selection process. Once a student is selected they no longer need to complete the application annually but must submit a letter of intent each year.

Selection preference shall be extended to siblings and children of employees working at ADHUS, FAUHS, and PPERS. All children must apply through the application process to be considered for admission. The only exceptions are newly hired employees of ADHUS, FAUHS, or PPERS whose children may be accepted outside of normal selection process on space available, demographic appropriate basis. An overriding criterion of the preference policy is to select students whose demographic characteristics satisfy the mission of the research school.

Following FAUS re-enrollment each year, registration goals shall be established for the vacancies at FAUS at each grade level. Demographic information from each student application shall be entered into the appropriate grade level files. Each child is given a number. After determining how many children need to be selected at any given demographic category (Ex: Hispanic, White, level 3 income) a random selection system is used to choose from all available children in that demographic criteria (or category) to fill the available spots. The students shall be selected by lottery from each category to match the most recent student population demographic data from the Florida Department of Education.

FAUS Applicant Pool Procedures

1. Applications shall be available and accepted for eligible students beginning September 1 and ending December 31 for the next school year. After the application period has closed, no applications shall be considered except for children of FAUS teachers, staff, and administrators hired after the application period. A new application must be submitted for each succeeding school year if the child is not accepted.
2. Applications must be completed electronically on the appropriate form and submitted on or before the prescribed date. Applications received after the application deadline shall not be considered for admission for the upcoming year. Applications must be completed fully for admission consideration.

3. Students are subject to dismissal if any part of the application has been falsified.
4. ADHUS and PPERS students must be five years old on or before September 1st to be eligible for kindergarten and meet the other criteria provided in state statute and FAUS Pupil Progression Plan. If the child was not selected, parents/guardians must resubmit an application each year to have their child considered for admissions.
5. Students not selected for admission shall continue to be considered through the current school year as openings may occur, unless the school is notified in writing by the parents or guardians to withdraw the application. Once a student's name is removed from the applicant pool, a parent must initiate a new application for the child to be considered for admission for the next school year
6. FAUHS applications are not considered complete until all supporting documentation has been received by FAUS. This includes writing samples, letters of recommendation, test scores, report cards and other documentation required as per the application on the FAUHS website. All supporting documentation should be received by the school on or before the second Friday in February by 4:00 PM at the school's front office. Parent(s)/Guardian(s) shall need to complete a new application annually to be eligible for future consideration for FAUHS.

Stanine	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
% Desired	2	4	7	12	18	21	18	13	5

II. Vacancies

The following options and order of preference shall be considered to fill vacancies when they occur:

If a student is admitted under this condition and the parent resigns, is terminated, or non-renewed, the student shall be allowed to remain enrolled in the school for the remainder of the school year, not to exceed one year from the date of last employment unless selected in a future admission lottery process.
2. Students may be considered for admittance to the school to participate in a formal research or development project that requires a special sample not available from the standard FAUS student population. The students admitted must meet the characteristics of the population as defined for the project and are admitted for the length of time specified for project completion.
3. Visiting foreign nationals, whose parents are working at FAU and who shall be in attendance for one school year or less, may be accepted on a space available basis.
